

HOUSTON

EATER

Under the Radar Choices for Houston Restaurant Weeks

Holly Beretto on Aug 24, 2015, 9:01a

You've got a little over two weeks left to enjoy Houston Restaurant Weeks — the city's mammoth dining initiative with proceeds benefiting the Houston Food Bank. By now, you've likely been to the new hot spots, maybe even sampled a three-course dinner or lunch at one of your favorites. But we scanned the massive list of participants and culled a few classics and more unconventional choices.

1 Alamo Draffhouse Cinema- Vintage Park

It might not seem like an obvious choice, but this is a great way to blend dinner and a movie and helping a great cause. The three-course, $35 menu offers options such as bottomless popcorn, 'The Thing' calzone and various adult milkshakes. Both the Vintage Park and Mason Park locations are participating, making this a one-stop-shop for an evening out.

Alamo Draffhouse. Photo: [Yelp/Alamo Draffhouse]

114 Vintage Park Blvd Ste J
Houston, TX 77070

Visit website
(832) 559-5959